

World Wide Media Streaming

The future of video distribution is on the web and it's both live and on-demand!

Large companies and organizations everywhere are finding value in streaming live video events and hosting on-demand video programs. IVAN's Web streaming services can distribute video content to thousands of viewers worldwide for less money than it takes to duplicate and mail a hundred DVDs. Imagine the impact of distributing video content with interactive support, such as PowerPoint, screen captures, and e-mail chat.

IVAN's on-demand services allow employees and customers to access IVAN's hosted content at anytime. Each session is tracked and reported so you know that people are watching. Best of all, your IT department does not have to worry about additional bandwidth needs or providing technical support.

IVAN can make you very popular!

- Live webcasting ensures that timely information reaches everyone.
- On-demand streaming provides the most convenient way to view video content.
- Full reporting and tracking of all video programs.
- Communicate information with synchronized PowerPoint and screen captures.
- Video content is hosted off-site with scalable bandwidth.
- Complete management of media content.

Do-it-yourself or let IVAN handle it for you

Let Alpha Video's Digital Services Group determine whether your distribution needs are better met with a simple on-demand video stream or a live webcast with dynamic graphic content. Our package solutions are easily customized to fit your specific situation. Content creation solutions are available for purchase, or simply send us the video content and we can do the rest.

Phone: 952-841-3329
E-mail: dsg@alphavideo.com

